Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Robert Browning s Poetry: Outline Studies These outlines have been prepared with the hope that they may help in the study of a poet whose works evince the highest poetic art and insight, works which are so numerous and varied in character that they constitute, as Canon Farrar says, a literature in themselves. The order in which the poems of Robert Browning shall be studied is an important question, though fortunately one that permits of various answers, each of which will yield good results. The order set forth in the accompanying outline is the result of considerable experience as well as much thought, and it is hoped will commend itself to many. But others will prefer to begin with the love poems or the dramas, which display the poet s most characteristic quality. He is always dramatic Whatever form or style he uses, his writings are everywhere permeated by the spirit of a living, struggling humanity. Man s thoughts and loves and hates. Earth is my vineyard, these grew there. One club in New York began with Sordello and courageously carried the study through three years, although it is the poem upon which chiefly rests the poet s reputation for obscurity. Other classes have begun with The Ring and The Book. Whatever order is pursued, the student of Browning, like that of any other poet, had better pursue his work in his own way. The best results are attained in the open mind, equally devoid of prejudice and conceit, which acquires its own power of judging and makes its own application of the truths and lessons taught.
